

Daily Democrat.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY HARNEY, HUGHES & CO.

—OFFICE—
South Side Green Street, two doors below the Customhouse.

SUNDAY, NOV. 27, 1864.

CITY NEWS.

The subscribers to our paper on the Portland avenue and in Portland will pay to Mr. John Kessler whatever balance they owe Mr. Jackson, our old carrier on the route.

HARNEY, HUGHES & CO.

POOR PROCEEDINGS.—Saturday, Nov. 26th.
Wm. Stockoff, drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Fined $5.

E. Clark and Bedford, suspected felon; held to bail in $300 for six months.

Thos. Ryan and Pat Sheehan, drunk and disorderly conduct; discharged.

Ed. Howard, drunk and disorderly conduct; discharged and sent to the Provost Marshal.

Charles Williams and Ed. Vinciguerra, stealing two overcoats, one from J. D. Vinciguerra, and the other from Wm. Clark; each held to bail in $150 to answer a misdemeanor.

Bridge Gorgan, stealing clothing from Mrs.
Lockwood.

J. J. Jones, who was committed on the 12th of November, was this morning bailed.

Chas. Green (I. b. c.), stealing $6.70 from Mrs. Coehlin; $300 for three months.

Chas. Bied, indecently exposing his person.
Fined $30.

Joe Shearer, continued for the third time; the man who was assaulted by him is near his last.

ST. VINCENT'S FAIR.—The Fair for the benefit of the orphans in the Masonic Temple was filled to overflowing last night. During the past week it has been well attended and most liberally patronized by the public and strangers generally. We take pleasure in announcing that it will be continued two nights longer—Monday and Tuesday night, and we hope that it will be attended more largely than ever. The attractions are great and the tables are beautifully arranged and handsomely supplied. It is worth the price of admission to look upon the beauty and fashion of our city, to say nothing of the cause in which you are concerned.

CITY.—Yesterday was rather a gloomy looking day. The atmosphere felt rather damp and the clouds felt rather heavy. It was during the day. Business was rather brisk in the city, though many of the streets were muddy. Military matters were lively, but not of a character. Very few arrests were made, save a few soldiers who did not know how to conduct themselves. Quite a number of ladies and children were in attendance at the matinees in the afternoon, and at night the two theaters and Masonic Temple were filled to overflowing.

THE OATH.—The following persons took the oath yesterday and were sent north of the Ohio: Thomas R. Latham, Davies county,
Kentucky, oath and bond, $5,000; Alram Stratton, Marion county, Tennessee, oath and bond, $5,000; Gregory Gross, Dade, oath and bond; E. M. Stewart, Union county, Kentucky, oath and bond; B. M. Stewart, Union county, oath and bond; and Charles W. Burnett, Union county, oath and bond.

COMMUN.—We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. P. A. Clark, the agent of the newly renovated Newcomb's Minstrels, in the city last night. He informs us that this celebrated corps d'opéra of that burnt cork musical army will make a successful tour on our city, and take their headquarters at the Masonic Temple in a few nights. Come on,
we're "only waiting" to attack you.

PERSONS SUFFERING FROM DISEASES OF THE EYE AND EAR.—Should consult Dr. Gardner,
the skillful oculist and aurist. We consider him the best operator on the eye and ear in this country. He has made ophthalmic and aurist surgery his study for years in Europe and this country. Dr. Gardner can be consulted daily at No. 117 Louisville Hotel.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Mrs. Webb made a narrow escape yesterday, in the M'Kinnon Hill, from being burned to death. Her clothes caught fire accidentally, and were nearly all burned off her person before the fire was subdued, but, fortunately, she escaped. A lady had her arm burned in endeavoring to put out the fire. It was a miraculous escape.

AT A MEETING OF THE M'GILL CLUB, held
last evening, the members, through Major Roberts, presented to the worthy Treasurer a splendid set of silver ware, valued at $200.
May be his generation live to remember the generous gift. The present consisted of a salver, solid silver pitcher and two hand some goblets.

PERMITS.—The following number of permits have been issued during the past week
at Post headquarters:

General permits.....112
Special permits.....10
Shipping permits.....10
Amusement permits.....10
Total.....142

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE ORPHANS' GARLAND
living in the city will get their papers after Tuesday, the 29th, at Messrs. Webb & Low-ing's book store, on Main street, three doors below Third. Those at a distance will have them mailed to them as early as possible after that date.

A FEW DAYS SINCE THREE frail specimens
of womanhood were arrested in the garb of Federal soldiers. Their names were Frank Martin, Ella Reno and Flora Hobson. Yesterday they were ordered to go north of the Ohio river and remain there until the war is over.

PERSONS WILL LEARN HOW TO LET SOLDIERS
have their own way of trading if a few more are arrested for enticing them from their shops. Theodore Bontich, Frank Frelaire and J. Weelma were arrested for doing so night before last.

THANKS.—We are indebted to the telegraph operators connected with the St. Vincent's Fair at Masonic Temple for a splendid treat last night in the shape of wire. The printers kept their spirits up by pouring them down.

Quite a large number of soldiers have been furnished with meals at the Soldiers' Rest during the past week. The Thanksgiving dinner at that place was a grand affair, and the boys enjoyed it.

The beautiful gold tumbler which was stolen off at the Fair on Friday night was won by a young lady who threw for a young man not present. We got it.

Second street, between Green and Walnut, is in a muddy condition. We hope the scavengers will get themselves into a scrape before long.

One hundred and eighty-eight citizens registered their names upon the "arrival book" at the Provost Marshal's office during the past week.

The handsome opera has presented to the Orphans' Fair by Mrs. A. B. Porter was won by A. J. Mitchell.

John H. Wilson, steamer Tarascon, has our thanks for river favors.

THE POOR.—Old hoary-headed Winter has again arisen from his slumbering couch, and stripped the earth of Nature's loveliness, and sent the pathway of Summer to the great resident of the North. Upon reaching the threshold of Old Father Time, upon reaching the threshold of old, the earth to pass and wrap as the looks back and sees the ghastly image of grim winter warbling through the once happy and beautiful land. She takes the joy hand of Winter within her own, and with a parting kiss she bids the old king "adieu" gently with the poor" and lies down upon the couch within the mansion, weeping beside her slumbering sister Spring. Nature seems to have no more to do with earth, as War and Winter, slunk along together, scattering devastation on either side of them, sowing the seeds of poverty at almost every door. Peace stands with outstretched arms, imploring mercy, but they coldly pass her by as if fully determined to carry out their purposes. War seems determined to add more names to the long list of widows and orphans, to establish more graveyards, to search out the chosen spot of earth to dye it with the crimson blood of the noblest sons of man, while Winter dispatches want, misery, poverty, disease and death, to visit every poor man's home and see that the cup of sorrow is put into the hands of almost every mother, widow and orphan in the land. This war has laid waste some of the most beautiful sections of country in the world. It has left its bloody footprints on the cotton and cane fields of the sunny South and in the mountains of the North. It has mixed the life blood of human beings with the pure waters of our Western rivers, established its numerous grave-yards where to hide its victims from the sight of man; it has robbed countless homes of their happiness, and turned them out into the cold unfeeling world, away from the scenes of their happy childhood, into an enemy's country and among strangers. You, who are smiling to-day around the happy firesides of your comfortable homes—your who are strangers to sorrow, want, and misery—you can live down in your soft, comfortable beds at night and be happy in your dreams, unconscious of the howlings of winter, and have escaped the iron clutches of war, go to your windows and look out upon the driving snow, and as you listen to the cold winter winds that howl past the chimney, think of the poor, and how they wondered largely than ever. The attractions are
great and the tables are beautifully arranged
and handsomely supplied. It is worth the price of admission to look upon the beauty
and fashion of our city, to say nothing of the
cause in which you are concerned.

CITY.—Yesterday was rather a gloomy look-
ing day. The atmosphere felt rather damp
and the clouds felt rather heavy. It was
during the day. Business was rather brisk
in the city, though many of the streets were
muddy. Military matters were lively, but not of a character. Very few arrests were made,
save a few soldiers who did not know how to
conduct themselves. Quite a number of ladies
and children were in attendance at the
matinees in the afternoon, and at night the
two theaters and Masonic Temple were filled
to overflowing.

THE OATH.—The following persons took the
oath yesterday and were sent north of the Ohio: Thomas R. Latham, Davies county,
Kentucky, oath and bond, $5,000; Alram
Stratton, Marion county, Tennessee, oath and
bond, $5,000; Gregory Gross, Dade, oath and
bond; E. M. Stewart, Union county, Kentucky, oath and bond; B. M. Stewart, Union
county, oath and bond; and Charles W. Burnett, Union county, oath and bond.

COMMUN.—We had the pleasure of meeting
Mr. P. A. Clark, the agent of the
newly renovated Newcomb's Minstrels, in the
city last night. He informs us that this celebrated corps d'opéra of that burnt cork
musical army will make a successful tour
on our city, and take their headquarters at the Masonic Temple in a few nights. Come on,
we're "only waiting" to attack you.

PERSONS SUFFERING FROM DISEASES OF THE EYE AND EAR.—Should consult Dr. Gardner,
the skillful oculist and aurist. We consider him
the best operator on the eye and ear in this
country. He has made ophthalmic and aurist
surgery his study for years in Europe and this country. Dr. Gardner can be consulted daily
at No. 117 Louisville Hotel.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Mrs. Webb made a narrow escape yesterday, in the M'Kinnon Hill,
from being burned to death. Her clothes
caught fire accidentally, and were nearly all
burned off her person before the fire was sub-
dued, but, fortunately, she escaped. A lady
had her arm burned in endeavoring to put out
the fire. It was a miraculous escape.

AT A MEETING OF THE M'GILL CLUB, held
last evening, the members, through Major
Roberts, presented to the worthy Treasurer a
splendid set of silver ware, valued at $200.
May be his generation live to remember the
generous gift. The present consisted of a
salver, solid silver pitcher and two hand
some goblets.

PERMITS.—The following number of per-
mits have been issued during the past week
at Post headquarters:

General permits.....112
Special permits.....10
Shipping permits.....10
Amusement permits.....10
Total.....142

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE ORPHANS' GARLAND
living in the city will get their papers after Tuesday, the 29th, at Messrs. Webb & Low-
ing's book store, on Main street, three doors
below Third. Those at a distance will have
them mailed to them as early as possible after
that date.

A FEW DAYS SINCE THREE frail specimens
of womanhood were arrested in the garb of Federal soldiers. Their names were Frank
Martin, Ella Reno and Flora Hobson. Yester-
day they were ordered to go north of the Ohio river and remain there until the war is over.

PERSONS WILL LEARN HOW TO LET SOLDIERS
have their own way of trading if a few more
are arrested for enticing them from their
shops. Theodore Bontich, Frank Frelaire and
J. Weelma were arrested for doing so night
before last.

THANKS.—We are indebted to the telegraph
operators connected with the St. Vincent's Fair at Masonic Temple for a splendid treat
last night in the shape of wire. The printers
kept their spirits up by pouring them down.

Quite a large number of soldiers have
been furnished with meals at the Soldiers'
Rest during the past week. The Thanksgiving
dinner at that place was a grand affair, and
the boys enjoyed it.

The beautiful gold tumbler which was
stolen off at the Fair on Friday night was won
by a young lady who threw for a young man
not present. We got it.

Second street, between Green and Wal-
nut, is in a muddy condition. We hope the
scavengers will get themselves into a scrape
before long.

One hundred and eighty-eight citizens
registered their names upon the "arrival
book" at the Provost Marshal's office during
the past week.

The handsome opera has presented to
the Orphans' Fair by Mrs. A. B. Porter was
won by A. J. Mitchell.

John H. Wilson, steamer Tarascon, has
our thanks for river favors.

THE POOR.—Old hoary-headed Winter has
again arisen from his slumbering couch, and
stripped the earth of Nature's loveliness, and
sent the pathway of Summer to the great resident of the North. Upon reaching the threshold
of Old Father Time, upon reaching the threshold
of old, the earth to pass and wrap as the looks
back and sees the ghastly image of grim winter warbling through the once happy and
beautiful land. She takes the joy hand of
Winter within her own, and with a parting
kiss she bids the old king "adieu" gently with
the poor" and lies down upon the couch
within the mansion, weeping beside her slum-
bering sister Spring. Nature seems to have
no more to do with earth, as War and Winter,
slunk along together, scattering devastation
on either side of them, sowing the seeds of
poverty at almost every door. Peace stands
with outstretched arms, imploring mercy,
but they coldly pass her by as if fully determined to carry out their purposes. War
seems determined to add more names to
the long list of widows and orphans, to establish more graveyards, to search out the
chosen spot of earth to dye it with the crimson
blood of the noblest sons of man, while Winter dispatches want, misery, poverty, disease
and death, to visit every poor man's home
and see that the cup of sorrow is put into the hands of almost every mother, widow and or-
phan in the land. This war has laid waste
some of the most beautiful sections of country in the world. It has left its bloody foot-
prints on the cotton and cane fields of the
sunny South and in the mountains of the North. It has mixed the life blood of human beings with the pure waters of our Western rivers, established its numerous grave-
yards where to hide its victims from the
sight of man; it has robbed countless homes
of their happiness, and turned them out into
the cold unfeeling world, away from the
scenes of their happy childhood, into an enemy's country and among strangers. You, who
are smiling to-day around the happy fire-
sides of your comfortable homes—your who
are strangers to sorrow, want, and misery—
you can live down in your soft, comfortable
beds at night and be happy in your dreams,
unconscious of the howlings of winter, and
have escaped the iron clutches of war, go to
your windows and look out upon the
driving snow, and as you listen to the
cold winter winds that howl past the
chimney, think of the poor, and how they
wondered largely than ever. The attractions are
great and the tables are beautifully arranged
and handsomely supplied. It is worth the
price of admission to look upon the beauty
and fashion of our city, to say nothing of the
cause in which you are concerned.

CITY.—Yesterday was rather a gloomy look-
ing day. The atmosphere felt rather damp
and the clouds felt rather heavy. It was
during the day. Business was rather brisk
in the city, though many of the streets were
muddy. Military matters were lively, but not of a character. Very few arrests were made,
save a few soldiers who did not know how to
conduct themselves. Quite a number of ladies
and children were in attendance at the
matinees in the afternoon, and at night the
two theaters and Masonic Temple were filled
to overflowing.

THE OATH.—The following persons took the
oath yesterday and were sent north of the Ohio: Thomas R. Latham, Davies county,
Kentucky, oath and bond, $5,000; Alram
Stratton, Marion county, Tennessee, oath and
bond, $5,000; Gregory Gross, Dade, oath and
bond; E. M. Stewart, Union county, Kentucky, oath and bond; B. M. Stewart, Union
county, oath and bond; and Charles W. Burnett, Union county, oath and bond.

COMMUN.—We had the pleasure of meeting
Mr. P. A. Clark, the agent of the
newly renovated Newcomb's Minstrels, in the
city last night. He informs us that this celebrated corps d'opéra of that burnt cork
musical army will make a successful tour
on our city, and take their headquarters at the Masonic Temple in a few nights. Come on,
we're "only waiting" to attack you.

PERSONS SUFFERING FROM DISEASES OF THE EYE AND EAR.—Should consult Dr. Gardner,
the skillful oculist and aurist. We consider him
the best operator on the eye and ear in this
country. He has made ophthalmic and aurist
surgery his study for years in Europe and this country. Dr. Gardner can be consulted daily
at No. 117 Louisville Hotel.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Mrs. Webb made a narrow escape yesterday, in the M'Kinnon Hill,
from being burned to death. Her clothes
caught fire accidentally, and were nearly all
burned off her person before the fire was sub-
dued, but, fortunately, she escaped. A lady
had her arm burned in endeavoring to put out
the fire. It was a miraculous escape.

AT A MEETING OF THE M'GILL CLUB, held
last evening, the members, through Major
Roberts, presented to the worthy Treasurer a
splendid set of silver ware, valued at $200.
May be his generation live to remember the
generous gift. The present consisted of a
salver, solid silver pitcher and two hand
some goblets.

PERMITS.—The following number of per-
mits have been issued during the past week
at Post headquarters:

General permits.....112
Special permits.....10
Shipping permits.....10
Amusement permits.....10
Total.....142

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE ORPHANS' GARLAND
living in the city will get their papers after Tuesday, the 29th, at Messrs. Webb & Low-
ing's book store, on Main street, three doors
below Third. Those at a distance will have
them mailed to them as early as possible after
that date.

A FEW DAYS SINCE THREE frail specimens
of womanhood were arrested in the garb of Federal soldiers. Their names were Frank
Martin, Ella Reno and Flora Hobson. Yester-
day they were ordered to go north of the Ohio river and remain there until the war is over.

PERSONS WILL LEARN HOW TO LET SOLDIERS
have their own way of trading if a few more
are arrested for enticing them from their
shops. Theodore Bontich, Frank Frelaire and
J. Weelma were arrested for doing so night
before last.

THANKS.—We are indebted to the telegraph
operators connected with the St. Vincent's
Fair at Masonic Temple for a splendid treat
last night in the shape of wire. The printers
kept their spirits up by pouring them down.

Quite a large number of soldiers have
been furnished with meals at the Soldiers'
Rest during the past week. The Thanksgiving
dinner at that place was a grand affair, and
the boys enjoyed it.

The beautiful gold tumbler which was
stolen off at the Fair on Friday night was won
by a young lady who threw for a young man
not present. We got it.

Second street, between Green and Wal-
nut, is in a muddy condition. We hope the
scavengers will get themselves into a scrape
before long.

One hundred and eighty-eight citizens
registered their names upon the "arrival
book" at the Provost Marshal's office during
the past week.

The handsome opera has presented to
the Orphans' Fair by Mrs. A. B. Porter was
won by A. J. Mitchell.

John H. Wilson, steamer Tarascon, has
our thanks for river favors.

THE POOR.—Old hoary-headed Winter has
again arisen from his slumbering couch, and
stripped the earth of Nature's loveliness, and
sent the pathway of Summer to the great resident of the North. Upon reaching the threshold
of Old Father Time, upon reaching the threshold
of old, the earth to pass and wrap as the looks
back and sees the ghastly image of grim winter warbling through the once happy and
beautiful land. She takes the joy hand of
Winter within her own, and with a parting
kiss she bids the old king "adieu" gently with
the poor" and lies down upon the couch
within the mansion, weeping beside her slum-
bering sister Spring. Nature seems to have
no more to do with earth, as War and Winter,
slunk along together, scattering devastation
on either side of them, sowing the seeds of
poverty at almost every door. Peace stands
with outstretched arms, imploring mercy,
but they coldly pass her by as if fully determined to carry out their purposes. War
seems determined to add more names to
the long list of widows and orphans, to establish more graveyards, to search out the
chosen spot of earth to dye it with the crimson
blood of the noblest sons of man, while Winter dispatches want, misery, poverty, disease
and death, to visit every poor man's home
and see that the cup of sorrow is put into the hands of almost every mother, widow and or-
phan in the land. This war has laid waste
some of the most beautiful sections of country in the world. It has left its bloody foot-
prints on the cotton and cane fields of the
sunny South and in the mountains of the
North. It has mixed the life blood of human beings with the pure waters of our Western rivers, established its numerous grave-
yards where to hide its victims from the
sight of man; it has robbed countless homes
of their happiness, and turned them out into
the cold unfeeling world, away from the
scenes of their happy childhood, into an enemy's country and among strangers. You, who
are smiling to-day around the happy fire-
sides of your comfortable homes—your who
are strangers to sorrow, want, and misery—
you can live down in your soft, comfortable
beds at night and be happy in your dreams,
unconscious of the howlings of winter, and
have escaped the iron clutches of war, go to
your windows and look out upon the
driving snow, and as you listen to the
cold winter winds that howl past the
chimney, think of the poor, and how they
wondered largely than ever. The attractions are
great and the tables are beautifully arranged
and handsomely supplied. It is worth the
price of admission to look upon the beauty
and fashion of our city, to say nothing of the
cause in which you are concerned.

CITY.—Yesterday was rather a gloomy look-
ing day. The atmosphere felt rather damp
and the clouds felt rather heavy. It was
during the day. Business was rather brisk
in the city, though many of the streets were
muddy. Military matters were lively, but not of a character. Very few arrests were made,
save a few soldiers who did not know how to
conduct themselves. Quite a number of ladies
and children were in attendance at the
matinees in the afternoon, and at night the
two theaters and Masonic Temple were filled
to overflowing.

THE OATH.—The following persons took the
oath yesterday and were sent north of the Ohio: Thomas R. Latham, Davies county,
Kentucky, oath and bond, $5,000; Alram
Stratton, Marion county, Tennessee, oath and
bond, $5,000; Gregory Gross, Dade, oath and
bond; E. M. Stewart, Union county, Kentucky, oath and bond; B. M. Stewart, Union county, oath and bond; and Charles W. Burnett, Union county, oath and bond.

COMMUN.—We had the pleasure of meeting
Mr. P. A. Clark, the agent of the
newly renovated Newcomb's Minstrels, in the
city last night. He informs us that this celebrated corps d'opéra of that burnt cork
musical army will make a successful tour
on our city, and take their headquarters at the Masonic Temple in a few nights. Come on,
we're "only waiting" to attack you.

PERSONS SUFFERING FROM DISEASES OF THE EYE AND EAR.—Should consult Dr. Gardner,
the skillful oculist and aurist. We consider him
the best operator on the eye and ear in this
country. He has made ophthalmic and aurist
surgery his study for years in Europe and this country. Dr. Gardner can be consulted daily
at No. 117 Louisville Hotel.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Mrs. Webb made a narrow escape yesterday, in the M'Kinnon Hill,
from being burned to death. Her clothes
caught fire accidentally, and were nearly all
burned off her person before the fire was sub-
dued, but, fortunately, she escaped. A lady
had her arm burned in endeavoring to put out
the fire. It was a miraculous escape.

AT A MEETING OF THE M'GILL CLUB, held
last evening, the members, through Major
Roberts, presented to the worthy Treasurer a
splendid set of silver ware, valued at $200.
May be his generation live to remember the
generous gift. The present consisted of a
salver, solid silver pitcher and two hand
some goblets.

PERMITS.—The following number of per-
mits have been issued during the past week
at Post headquarters:

General permits.....112
Special permits.....10
Shipping permits.....10
Amusement permits.....10
Total.....142

SUBSCRIBERS TO THE ORPHANS' GARLAND
living in the city will get their papers after Tuesday, the 29th, at Messrs. Webb & Low-
ing's book store, on Main street, three doors
below Third. Those at a distance will have
them mailed to them as early as possible after
that date.

A FEW DAYS SINCE THREE frail specimens
of womanhood were arrested in the garb of Federal soldiers. Their names were Frank
Martin, Ella Reno and Flora Hobson. Yester-
day they were ordered to go north of the Ohio river and remain there until the war is over.

PERSONS WILL LEARN HOW TO LET SOLDIERS
have their own way of trading if a few more
are arrested for enticing them from their
shops. Theodore Bontich, Frank Frelaire and
J. Weelma were arrested for doing so night
before last.

THANKS.—We are indebted to the telegraph
operators connected with the St. Vincent's
Fair at Masonic Temple for a splendid treat
last night in the shape of wire. The printers
kept their spirits up by pouring them down.

Quite a large number of soldiers have
been furnished with meals at the Soldiers'
Rest during the past week. The Thanksgiving
dinner at that place was a grand affair, and
the boys enjoyed it.

The beautiful gold tumbler which was
stolen off at the Fair on Friday night was won
by a young lady who threw for a young man
not present. We got it.

Second street, between Green and Wal-
nut, is in a muddy condition. We hope the
scavengers will get themselves into a scrape
before long.

One hundred and eighty-eight citizens
registered their names upon the "arrival
book" at the Provost Marshal's office during
the past week.

The handsome opera has presented to
the Orphans' Fair by Mrs. A. B. Porter was
won by A. J. Mitchell.

John H. Wilson, steamer Tarascon, has
our thanks for river favors.

THE POOR.—Old hoary-headed Winter has
again arisen from his slumbering couch, and
stripped the earth of Nature's loveliness, and
sent the pathway of Summer to the great resident of the North. Upon reaching the threshold
of Old Father Time, upon reaching the threshold
of old, the earth to pass and wrap as the looks
back and sees the ghastly image of grim winter warbling through the once happy and
beautiful land. She takes the joy hand of
Winter within her own, and with a parting
kiss she bids the old king "adieu" gently with
the poor" and lies down upon the couch
within the mansion, weeping beside her slum-
bering sister Spring. Nature seems to have
no more to do with earth, as War and Winter,
slunk along together, scattering devastation
on either side of them, sowing the seeds of
poverty at almost every door. Peace stands
with outstretched arms, imploring mercy,
but they coldly pass her by as if fully determined to carry out their purposes. War
seems determined to add more names to
the long list of widows and orphans, to establish more graveyards, to search out the
chosen spot of earth to dye it with the crimson
blood of the noblest sons of man, while Winter dispatches want, misery, poverty, disease
and death, to visit every poor man's home
and see that the cup of sorrow is put into the hands of almost every mother, widow and or-
phan in the land. This war has laid waste
some of the most beautiful sections of country in the world. It has left its bloody foot-
prints on the cotton and cane fields of the
sunny South and in the mountains of the
North. It has mixed the life blood of human beings with the pure waters of our Western rivers, established its numerous grave-
yards where to hide its victims from the
sight of man; it has robbed countless homes
of their happiness, and turned them out into
the cold unfeeling world, away from the
scenes of their happy childhood, into an enemy's country and among strangers. You, who
are smiling to-day around the happy fire-
sides of your comfortable homes—your who
are strangers to sorrow, want, and misery—
you can live down in your soft, comfortable
beds at night and be happy in your dreams,
unconscious of the howlings of winter, and
have escaped the iron clutches of war, go to
your windows and look out upon the
driving snow, and as you listen to the
cold winter winds that howl past the
chimney, think of the poor, and how they
wondered largely than ever. The attractions are
great and the tables are beautifully arranged
and handsomely supplied. It is worth the
price of admission to look upon the beauty
and fashion of our city, to say nothing of the
cause in which you are concerned.

CITY.—Yesterday was rather a gloomy look-
ing day. The atmosphere felt rather damp
and the clouds felt rather heavy. It was
during the day. Business was rather brisk
in the city, though many of the streets were
muddy. Military matters were lively, but not of a character. Very few arrests were made,
save a few soldiers who did not know how to
conduct themselves. Quite a number of ladies
and children were in attendance at the
matinees in the afternoon, and at night the
two theaters and Masonic Temple were filled
to overflowing.

THE OATH.—The following persons took the
oath yesterday and were sent north of the Ohio: Thomas R. Latham, Davies county,
Kentucky, oath and bond, $5,000; Alram
Stratton, Marion county, Tennessee, oath and
bond, $5,000; Gregory Gross, Dade, oath and
bond; E. M. Stewart, Union county, Kentucky, oath and bond; B. M. Stewart, Union
county, oath and bond; and Charles W. Burnett, Union county, oath and bond.

COMMUN.—We had the pleasure of meeting
Mr. P. A. Clark, the agent of the
newly renovated Newcomb's Minstrels, in the
city last night. He informs us that this celebrated corps d'opéra of that burnt cork
musical army will make a successful tour
on our city, and take their headquarters at the Masonic Temple in a few nights. Come on,
we're "only waiting" to attack you.

PERSONS SUFFERING FROM DISEASES OF THE EYE AND EAR.—Should consult Dr. Gardner,
the skillful oculist and aurist. We consider him
the best operator on the eye and ear in this
country. He has made ophthalmic and aurist
surgery his study for years in Europe and this
country. Dr. Gardner can be consulted daily
at No. 117 Louisville Hotel.

